Friends and neighbors,

We just wanted to let you know you're doing a great job.

It's not easy, sticking to the recommended distancing protocols. Especially when the weather gets nice like it did yesterday, and we feel that need to get out of the house. It feels like it's been the longest winter any of us can remember, and the cabin fever is making everyone restless.

But you're doing a great job. And you're saving lives.

Every time you eat out of the freezer or cut your own hair. Every day that you try to work from home and keep the kids on track with their remote learning at the same time. Every trip to the store or school you don't make. You're saving lives.

Because it's working, folks. We're flattening the curve. We're each doing our part to protect everyone else from this pandemic. Kensington is one of the only - if not the only - town in Rockingham County without a positive case of Covid-19. You're doing a great job.

So keep it up.

Now isn't the time to lose patience with the whole exercise. Now isn't the time to gather with friends or stop taking the recommended precautions while in public.

Now isn't the time to think the job is done.

Now is the time to trust the process, because it's working.

We're not sure how much longer we're going to have to stay at home. It may be months yet before things get back to any semblance of normal. So please, keep it up. Because you're saving lives, every day.

Thank you, Kensington.
